In the event of success there, Louis intended to march the next day towards Paris, to rouse and arm the intermediate provinces, to take with him the garrisons of Alsace and Lothringen, and, if possible, to reach the metropolis before the government could take any active measures against him. A COMPLIMENTRY BALL Ahrenenberg and went to Baden-Baden, where he gained over Colonel Vaudrey, commander of artiflery in the garrison of Strasbourg. In August he went secretlivily to that city, and there had an inter-view with fifteen officers, who promised him their assistance and cooperation, He then returned into Switzerland, leaving the further arrangements for the insurrection to some of his adherents.

The affair, however, failed miserably, and Was detained a prisoner in Strasbourg from October 30th till November 9th, when he was conducted to Paris, and learnt that on the first intelligence of his Will sail for San Francisco direct this day, Tuesday to eaptare, his mother had come into the soity of Paris, to try to obtain his pardon and save his life, or to excite sympathy for him. His life was spared, at he was told at the same time that he to be sent to the United States.
